Short biography:	I am passionate about teaching and making the curriculum accessible for all abilities. I strongly believe that every child needs to experience success. I am currently working at a school with high social deprivation and fully understand the struggles schools face in dealing with the difficulties this situation provides. I have taught from Year 2 to Year 6 and I am in the second year of implementing Singapore strategies across the school. I have thoroughly enjoyed this challenge and it has been so lovely to see the impact this had on our children and staff.
